

2020 SEMI-DRY RIESLING

Estate Grown and Bottled; Seneca Lake AVA

Fulkerson Winery's Riesling wines are all estate grown on a mixture of soils. Each cuvee is treated with the utmost respect to pull the character out of the soil and showcase the terroir of that particular vineyard site. With five Riesling cuveés, Fulkerson Winery can offer a Riesling for every occasion, palate, or preference.

"In 1805, Caleb Fulkerson embedded his willow walking stick into a spring on the land we now call home. Chosen based on the distinctiveness of a glacially formed landscape, the soils of which determine the character and quality of each wine that results. We invite you to share in the passion we have as farmers."

VITICULTURAL NOTES

Grape: Riesling

Harvest date: October 16, 2020

Grown on one of the best sites on our farm, The Riesling planting which is utilized for our semi-dry cuvee is situated on Odessa clay soil. The vineyard is situated on the lower half of the original 1805 family farm. The heavy Odessa series gives a light citrus nose and flavor, with good minerality, while the cool site with good morning sun limits disease pressure, yielding clean fruit. This all around Riesling will be sure to please.
